About us:

We believe that faith is a journey and respect that it is different for every person who shows up.

South Presbyterian Church in Greenburgh (Dobbs Ferry) attracts worshippers of all ages and backgrounds. Some were raised in this church; many others joined us in the past ten years. We are diverse in income, life experience, race, sexuality, and religious upbringing. We are proud to represent a vibrant cross section of our community. In recent years we have drawn young families, who enjoy the opportunity to have children participate in worship and be welcomed to join us just as they are!

Our congregation is caring, open and welcoming. We also enjoy being challenged to ask questions and go deeper in our faith. We are curious and eager to learn more, whether through spiritual study groups, contemplating art works in our rotating gallery, or volunteer opportunities. We are blessed with members who have felt called to create community ministries like our Food Pantry, Faith & Justice Leadership Lab for teens, and Roots & Wings (our sustainable living initiative), and we try to foster these opportunities whenever we can. Music is an important part of our worship service. We have a talented music director and are blessed with remarkable musicians who have offered their talents during the pandemic.

We are a church that values relationships. This is a place to make deep, meaningful connections with people you may never have otherwise met!

Our mission is stated in our weekly bulletin as "Aiding one another in the work of becoming more fully human, in the ways that God has given us, through constant learning, justice work, the arts and inclusion."
